

Parents/Guardians

It has been brought to our attention that the senior class has organized a “Senior Assassin” game. Senior Assassin is a competitive game in which seniors have targets and have to shoot their targets with water or splat guns to eliminate them. The game goes until only one senior is left, and that senior wins the pool of money from players’ entry fees. Participants often wear masks, hide in parking lots, or ambush other participants at their homes, jobs, or at school.

If you do a quick Google search of Senior Assassin Game, you will see numerous examples of how dangerous this game can be. The School District of New London and the New London Police Department strongly discourage students from participating. Any participation on school property or at school-sponsored events will lead to disciplinary action.

What seems like a harmless activity has already led to the police being called to a local business and numerous phone calls coming to NLHS. Please speak with your child about the activity and help us have a safe end of the school year.

Sincerely,

Brian Yerkey
NLHS Principal
